

Kansas Opioid Response ECHO:

Amplifying the Strengths of Rural Communities to Tailor Pain Management Strategies

Rural Primary Care Providers

Are invited to gain insights through live case discussion with specialty pain providers throughout this monthlong series.

October 07, 2021
Incorporating Psychological Considerations and Techniques in the Treatment of Patients with Chronic Pain in Rural Populations
Lora Black, PhD, MPH
Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, University of Kansas Medical Center, Kansas City, KS

October 14, 2021
General Principles of Safe Opioid Management for Patients with Chronic Pain
Zohra Hussaini, MSN, FNP-BC, MBA
Advanced Practice Provider Coordinator
Department of Anesthesia/Pain Management
The University of Kansas Health System
Kansas City, KS

October 21, 2021
Non-Opioid Analgesics for Patients Experiencing Acute and Chronic Pain
Andrew Sack, MD
Assistant Professor, Anesthesiology, School of Medicine, University of Kansas Medical Center, Kansas City, KS

October 28, 2021
Physical Therapy Strategies for the Patient with Complex Needs
Kurt Mason PT, DPT, OCS
Rehabilitation Supervisor, Spine Center Therapies
University of Kansas Health System
Kansas City, KS

Noon – 1:00 pm Thursdays in October

No Cost Continuing Education (CE) Credits Offered to:

Physicians, Advance Practice Clinicians and Nurses, & Social Workers

Register at:

<https://bit.ly/KansasOpioidResponse>

All Teach Learn
Case-based Learning

4-Session Series:
October 7 - 28, 2021
Thursdays
Noon to 1:00 pm central

KU
MEDICAL CENTER
The University of Kansas

Project ECHO
NOW Coalition
PRATI • REGIONAL MEDICAL • CENTER
Minnescah Opioid Workforce

Extension for Community Healthcare Outcomes

This project is supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) under Rural Communities Opioid Response Program (RCORP) – Planning Grant Award #6G25RH40056-01-02